CV Inhaltsbeschreibung

I am a PHP developer with a Master's degree in Mathematics from Yerevan State University. Already during my studies I got interested by computer science and by the possibility of using my scientific background to create new things and see them working. So after I graduated I started working as a Junior Developer and now (after more than 6 years of professional experience) I consider myself a skilled PHP developer. As a next step in my career I would love to measure myself with a new challenge in Europe.
